

SECTION FOUR: BIBLIOGRAPHY

Much has been written on Teachers' Resource Centres, under various names. Nevertheless, the bibliography below is a short one containing four types of publication in the main.

- Part 1. This is a list of authoritative books on Centres. The first is Britain's Schools' Council Working Paper No 10 where the idea of Teacher's Centres was first mooted. The last, also from the Schools' Council, attempts to survey the state of the art after a decade and a half.
- Part 2. Audio visual materials on Teachers' Resource Centres.
- Part 3. Some authoritative books on in-service education and change agents highlighting up to date thinking on these.
- Part 4. Three journals which have published, and will no doubt continue to do so, selections of articles on Centres and in-service education for teachers.

In general, it is considered that it might prove of more value to those planning to set up new Centres or enlarge existing ones to be put into direct contact with experts in the field who can correspond with them. Enquiries of this kind addressed to the Commonwealth Secretariat at its London office will be passed on to suitable people who can be of direct practical assistance to the enquirer.
