

Acknowledgements

We would like to give special thanks to our colleagues at the Commonwealth Secretariat: Indrajit Coomaraswamy, Vasantt Jogoo, Guy Bentham and Andrew Armitage, for their invaluable advice and support in the development of this publication. Thanks are also due to John Roberts and Cletus Springer for their considered and detailed comments on the text, Mark Griffith of the United Nations Environment Programme for his encouragement and advice while he did his sabbatical at the Commonwealth Secretariat, and to Padma Lal and the Pacific Island Forum Secretariat, and Garfield Barnwell and the Caribbean Community Secretariat, for their facilitation. Finally, we are grateful to members of an advisory group that met on the margins of the UN Commission on Sustainable Development in 2006 for an informal brainstorming session on Commonwealth support to implementation of the Mauritius Strategy, with reference to national sustainable development planning in small island developing states (SIDS). They included David Barrett, Dirk Troost, Albert Nita, Espen Ronneberg, Rohan Richards, Cheryl Ramsubeik, Donna McRae-Smith, Lionel Nurse, Coral Pasisi, Hugh Sealy, Diane Quarless, Mary Pat Silveria and Linda Brice. Our personal thanks go to Kieron Cox and Simon Webb for all their support and encouragement.